Elkton Regains Power Service After Flood

Creek Waters Recede After Town's Main Street Was Covered

The 200 residents of the unincorporated village of Elkton were without electric service Friday following Thursday's incessant rains which caused Little Beaver creek to overrun its banks and cover the town's main street.

The high water came within inches of running into first floors of homes and stores.

Electric power line poles leading to Elkton were washed out by flood waters, or lines knocked down by trees falling on lines during Thursday night's downpour.

Ohio Edison Co. crews, operating in small boats, temporarily called their effort to restore the town's power supply off Friday afternoon after one of the boats capsized, drenching several linemen. Electricity was restored by the company around 7 p. m. after being off 16 hours.

By early this morning, the water receded from the Rt. 154, the main street of Elkton. The highway was under about three feet of water from swollen Little Beaver Creek throughout most of Friday.

Traffic Moves Cautiously

Traffic began using the road cautiously Friday night although several feet of water was still on the road. Cars and trucks looked like overgrown ducks on a pond as they crept through the water.

More than one vehicle became bogged in the water and had to be pushed out by Elkton residents.

For the children of the community the flood provided a downtown village swimming pool where local youths rode their bicycles through the water or splashed happily.

Meanwhile, villagers waited patiently for the flood waters of Little Beaver creek to recede. The villagers, accustomed to yearly flooding from the Little Beaver, said this year the water retreated more slowly.

At its peak Thursday night, the flood came within several inches of entering the first floor of homes and stores.

Merchandise Moved

Merchandise at the W. A. Switzer store and post office was taken to the second floor of the store when water threatened to invade the store. Most of the residents removed their furniture to the second floor of their homes.

Groceries at the Olin Evans store was raised to higher levels after water came up to the door step of the store.

Four families left their homes after word was received Thursday afternoon that Copeland dam might break near Leetonia. Elkton residents were ready to leave if the dam broke as their village would have been in the wake of oncoming waters.

Commissioners Reply On Food Criticism

Columbiana County commissioners today in a letter to Congressman Wayne L. Hays criticized Donald Gosney for not having obtained the correct facts in making a report to Hays on the surplus food situation in the county for the needy and unemployed.

Gosney, Columbiana County secretary for Hays, was criticized by Galen H. Greenisen, Richard G. Brian and Walter A. Hunston for not consulting them in person about their efforts to provide the needy in the county with surplus commodities.

Hays had written the commissioners July 30 saying that he had received repeated letters from county residents requesting his doing something about getting federal surplus commodities available.

The commissioners today said: "In May of 1958 our welfare director went to Columbus to get the facts on the surplus foods problem."

"On May 13, 1958, at 1 p. m. the mayors of our cities and welfare representatives met in Lisbon with the commissioners and two representatives of the Office of Commodity Distribution, Victor J. Warken and his assistant. At that time the whole program was explained."

Sewage Plant Still Down After Flood

Dams In Leetonia Area Worry Mayor

Leetonia began to dry out under a warm sun Friday afternoon, and life in the community returned to normalcy as flood threats eased.

Concern over the flood that covered the lower portions of Leetonia earlier that day died down as creeks in the area started returning to their banks.

The biggest concern to village officials, outside the loss of the community's sewage treatment plant for an indefinite period of time, is the weakened condition of three dams in the area.

Mayor Ralph Kennedy expressed hope that the dams soon will be repaired and strengthened in order to prevent a serious disaster if similar flooding conditions should recur.

The mayor said Friday afternoon his community would have been in serious trouble if the Copeland dam, two miles east of Leetonia had washed out and dumped the water from a 15-acre lake on the community.

Several dozen men, working against time Thursday afternoon, prevented the breasting of the dam from washing out. Mayor Kennedy also said that the Cherry alley dam in Leetonia, and the Washingtonville dam had been weakened by flood waters.

Sewage Plant Damaged

The Leetonia sewage treatment plant was still under several feet of water Friday, preventing city officials from making an accurate survey of water damage to the plant.

One-Cent Stamps Popular With Patrons

A large demand for one-cent stamps to meet the new postal rates that went into operation yesterday caught the Salem post office short when its supply of one-cent stamps were exhausted yesterday afternoon. Postmaster Orvil C. Hoover, reports.

During the last two weeks of July, the post office sold 25,000 one-cent stamps, and it ran out of the one-cent stamps after 10,000 were purchased Friday. The post office was able to acquire 4,000 more stamps yesterday afternoon until a new shipment of 40,000 stamps arrived this morning.

showed that sludge lagoons were washed out. The heart of the plant, four 15-h.p. motors, were under about 20 feet of water during the peak of the flood.

Mayor Kennedy said the motors must be sent away to be repaired

U. S. Sergeant Fatally Shot In Lebanon

BEIRUT, Lebanon (AP) — A U. S. Army sergeant was fatally shot Friday night by unknown assailants as his truck was passing through Beirut, an Army spokesman said.

Both an Army team and Lebanese authorities were investigating the shooting, but there was no immediate indication who fired the bullet that struck the sergeant at the base of the throat.

He was the fifth American to die—the first four accidentally—since U. S. troops began landing in Lebanon July 15 at the request of pro-Western President Camille Chamoun. The sergeant's name was withheld until next of kin could be notified.

The Army spokesman gave this account of the fatal shooting:

With two others, the sergeant was traveling east on Beirut's Foud Street, which leads to the Lebanese security forces headquarters.

About 1,000 yards west of the headquarters shots rang out. The sergeant, sitting in the right front seat, apparently put his head out of the window to see where the shots were coming from and a 9 millimeter bullet struck him at the base of the throat.

A Lebanese security force man took the sergeant to a hospital but he was dead on arrival.

His three-quarter-ton truck with trailer was being used to move radio relay station equipment from north Beirut to the airport south of the city. The truck was hit several times, its canvas top pierced, and two tires punctured.

Munitions Plant Explodes In Rio

Death Toll Estimated At 50 by Authorities

RIO DE JANEIRO, Brazil (AP) — A huge army munitions dump blew up in a four-hour series of explosions today. Civilian authorities said as many as 50 persons might have been killed.

An Army communique said it had no exact news of the number of victims several hours after the last blast. Troops kept firemen and rescue workers out of the fire-swept area for fear more artillery shells might explode.

Authorities estimated during pre-dawn darkness that up to 1,000 persons might have been killed. This was based on the belief that the blasts and fire had swept a nearby housing area. But when the sun came up behind pillars of smoke, authorities said there was a good chance most residents had been evacuated.

President Juscelino Kubitschek, informed almost as soon as the explosions began at 11 Friday night, joined hundreds of rescue workers who sped to the scene in a suburb 18 miles from Rio.

The main blast exploded the Cambui dump after garrison troops were pulled out of the area in the mistaken belief that the first fires would not spread.

More than five miles from the blasts, residents said the fire lit up the sky like daylight. We could hear explosion after explosion. With each explosion the windows would vibrate and the houses would shake."

Boling Was In Air 46 Hours

Pilot Recalls Trials of Record Non-Stop Flight

PENDLETON, Ore. (AP) — Veteran flier Marion Boling says he never would want to relive the hours of his record, non-stop flight across the Pacific Ocean.

"This was the toughest thing I've ever done," the handsome 43-year-old Boling said after ending the 6,979-mile flight here Friday.

"I wouldn't want to go back and relive those hours, but I think I'll always look back on them as the best 48 hours of my life," the Palo Alto, Calif., pilot said.

The flight had begun in Manila, and it ended 45 hours and 42 minutes later when Boling touched down at Beechcraft Bonanza in Boling's flight broke the nonstop

United States Will Recognize Iraqi Regime

Allies Consider Move 'Wise and Prudent' Course of Action

WASHINGTON (AP) — The United States is recognizing the revolutionary government of Iraq today.

State Department officials said a formal announcement of the action would be made during the day. It had been foreshadowed by Secretary of State Dulles' statement at a news conference Thursday that the United States would follow the course which its allies considered "wise and prudent."

The British government recognized the revolutionary regime Friday. The policy had been decided upon at a meeting of the Baghdad Pact powers in London last weekend. Dulles attended the London conference as an observer. The United States is associated with but is not a member of the anti-Communist Middle Eastern alliance.

The Iraqi ruling group seized power July 14. The revolt set off the general Middle East crisis which caused President Eisenhower to dispatch troops to protect the pro-Western government of Lebanon and the British to take similar action in Jordan.

In his statement announcing that Marines were going into Lebanon, Eisenhower denounced the revolutionaries in Iraq as coming to power through murder and assassination and said they had made martyrs out of the country's true ruler. They killed King Faisal and his chief government leaders.

Eisenhower and Dulles quickly dropped this hostile line, however, when it appeared that the United States would have to live with the Baghdad regime whether it wanted to or not. The leaders of the regime also began talking in a friendly fashion.

Moscow Reply To Allied Plan Expected Soon

WASHINGTON (AP)—U.S. officials looked today for a quick—and probably favorable—reply from Moscow to the U.S.-British proposal for a U.N. summit conference to begin about Aug. 12.

These authorities said, however, that the exact response of Soviet Premier Khrushchev is more than ordinarily difficult to predict. Because the Russian leader has been confronted with not one but two conflicting summit proposals from the West, these officials say Khrushchev is in a position to pick and choose. French Premier de Gaulle has called for a five power meeting to begin in Geneva Aug. 18—and outside the framework of the United Nations.

In the series of exchanges between Western leaders and Khrushchev over the past two weeks, the Soviet Premier at one point agreed to a U.N. Security Council session of heads of government—as advocated by Pres-

Divorcee, 42, Is Held In Indianapolis Slaying

INDIANAPOLIS (AP) — An attractive 42-year-old divorcee accused of killing a wealthy pharmaceutical executive because he spurned her for a younger woman was still unconscious today, but detectives said they were satisfied she did the shooting.

Police laboratory technicians said tests show that a pistol found in the purse of Mrs. Connie Nicholas is the gun which killed Forrest Teel, 54-year-old executive vice president of Eli Lilly Co. drug firm.

They said microscopic examination of slugs fired from Mrs. Nicholas traced Teel to the apartment of Miss Laura L. Mower, 29, whom he identified as the woman Teel had been seeing for the last three months. He said Mrs. Nicholas apparently waited for Teel outside in his auto until after midnight, Wednesday, and that the shooting climaxed a bitter argument in a nearby parking lot.

Smiley said he believes the attractive divorcee drove immediately to the secluded river bank where she was found, unconscious, after taking an overdose of sleeping pills.

Capt. Smiley called Mrs. Nicholas a "spurned woman," after a 15-year friendship with Teel. A preliminary charge of murder has been filed against her.

Residents Recall Pearl Harbor

Hawaiians Protesting Tests of A-Weapons

HONOLULU (AP)—Hawaiians, who haven't forgotten Pearl Harbor, are protesting the flaring introduction they got to the age of atomic missiles Friday.

A nuclear warhead was sent streaking an estimated four miles high over Johnston Island shortly after midnight. The giant mushroom cloud of its incandescent explosion was visible here, 700 miles northeast, for as long as 10 minutes.

Thousands saw it. As the mushroom cloud reared itself over the horizon after the initial white flash, it turned a sullen red shot with streaks of blue and green. The cloud rose many thousands of feet higher into the stratosphere.

Calls to the police more than quadrupled as alarmed residents asked if Pearl Harbor had been blasted again.

Hawaii's Gov. William F. Quinn asked again for permission to warn the public when such blasts are impending. Less tactful protests were heard from others.

The explosion of an Army Redstone capable of around 200 miles horizontal range and possibly 100 miles in vertical climb, was perhaps the first test of a missile designed to intercept an intercontinental ballistic missile.

An ICBM with a speed of 15,000 miles per hour, could travel from Russia in half an hour and destroy a whole city, affording a possible 15 minute warning. But during that 15 minutes an anti-missile missile might destroy it.

Safe-Crackers Wear Gloves, Leave No Clues

$800 In Dimes Part Of Haul; Secretary's Office Ransacked

A burglar or burglars who wore leather gloves left no fingerprint clues at the scene of a $2,700 safe-cracking at the Salem Elks lodge home early Friday morning.

Police, who were notified of the theft at 9:05 a.m. yesterday, found the office safe broken open and its contents scattered about the floor.

Patrolman Robert Kirchgesner, the department's fingerprint expert, said all attempts to dust for fingerprints were balked because evidence clearly indicated that the intruder or intruders wore leather gloves. The gloves make an impression, he explained, but it is not traceable.

Missing was $2,700 from the safe of the Secretary-Manager Ray Kenneweg.

The loot included $1,150 in silver and $1,550 in currency, police said.

The silver included $800 in dimes, $170 in halves, $140 in quarters, $20 in nickels and the rest in loose change.

Patrolman Kirchgesner said the burglary occurred sometime after 1:45 a.m. Friday when the lodge home was locked by Frank Devine of 408 W. Pershing St., the custodian. He discovered the theft when he opened again at 9 a.m. Window Found Unlocked Police said that entrance to the building was made through an unlocked window on the west side of the building. Once inside, the burglars pried open the door to the office by using a crowbar and screwdriver, according to marks on the door and frame.

The yeggs then knocked the combination off the safe and "drifted" the lock pin, clearly indicating, police said, that the thieves were professionals.

After stealing the money and rifling other contents of the safe, the burglars went downstairs in the Elks Home and pried open a cloakroom door but did not attempt to force open the door to the lounge. This leads police to believe that at this point the intruders might have been frightened away.

Police asked that people notify the department of anyone with large sums of dimes, quarters or halves since $1,150 of the loot was in silver.

The theft is partially covered by insurance, it was reported.

18 Days In July Had Rain, Totaling Record 12.39 Inches

The heavy rains which fell during 18 days in July totaling 12.39 inches, breaking the previous 65-year mark of 10.15 inches established in 1941, according to Edwin Copeland of Millport, county weather observer at Millport.

Last month's precipitation raised the year's total to 30.51 inches or 7.37 inches more than what fell through the first seven months in 1957.

Rainfall in June this year totaled 3.84 inches. Last month, at least two inches of rainfall were measured on three separate days, Copeland said.

July was particularly a month this year since the 12.39 inches which fell is considerably above the average of 4.30 inches which has fallen in July since 1892, the year the county weather observation station was established.

The average daily temperature last month was 71.0 degrees which was .5 of a degree higher than the average of 69.5 degrees in July, 1957. The 65-year average is 70.5 degrees. A high of 90 was recorded July 4. The low of 47 was set July 20 and 21.

There were 15 part cloudy days nine clear days and seven cloudy days last month.

Mormons to Trace 131-Year History With Big Pageant

By TOM HENSHAW

Associated Press Religion Writer

One of the largest and most spectacular of all religious pageants opens its 17th three-day season next Thursday on a sacred hillside a few miles south of Palmyra, N. Y.

It's called "America's Witness for Christ" and it depicts the events which led up to the founding of the Church of Jesus Christ of the Latter Day Saints, whose members are called Mormons.

The Hill Cumorah is to Mormons what Mt. Sinai is to Jews. Mormons believe that it was there 131 years ago that Joseph Smith, guided by the Angel Moroni, found the golden Book of Mormon.

Right now, some 350 volunteer Mormons are busy learning parts, setting up the five major and 20 secondary stages, laying the wiring for lights and stereophonic sound system and other chores.

The acting, directed by Dr. Harold I. Hansen, chairman of the Department of Speech and Dramatic Art at Brigham Young University, is done in pantomime. The principal speaking roles are taped.

Everything about the pageant is big, including the music (on tape) of the 10,724-pipe organ from the Tabernacle in Salt Lake City and the 500 gallons of water used as spray with colored lights to create the illusion of visions.

Last year some 100,000 persons, less than 5 per cent of them Mormon, viewed the spectacle during its three-night run. About the same number is expected this year.

Non-Mormons attending the pageant will see some familiar scenes—like the crucifixion of Jesus Christ—but most of the scenes will include events not generally known outside the Mormon Church.

For instance, there's the prophet Nephi prophesying the birth and death of Christ, Samuel the Lamanite warning his people of evil and the angel Moroni instructing Joseph Smith on the Book of Mormon.

Miss Mary Smith, a County Home resident who will be 100 years old Oct. 25, was among the persons receiving chest X-rays when the state X-Ray Mobile visited the county home Thursday morning.

Miss Smith, a former resident of Yellow Creek township who has been in the home since 1937, is shown leaving the mobile trailer as Miss Lillian Schroder, left executive secretary of the Health League, holds a birthday cake for their honored visitor.

Assisting Miss Smith down the steps is Mrs. Stella Beadnell, right, a nurse at the home.

Despite her advanced years, Miss Smith enjoys fairly good health. Flowers are her main enjoyment, she says. She has no known relatives but has many friends among the other 113 residents at the County Home.

The X-Ray Mobile gave free chest X-rays to 96 other County Home residents yesterday, bringing to 1,912 the total number of persons examined for tuberculosis during the mobile unit's county tour which began July 17. Dr. C. S. Palmer, county health commissioner, supervised the program.

THE DATE of the meeting of the Ladies Auxiliary of the Fire Department is to be Aug. 12 at the playgrounds.

Macell and Paul Raymond Rober visited at the Walter Homes residence recently.

Ralph and John Sebrrell of Elkton, nephews of John Rudolph, spent a week at their uncle John's farm home.

Mr. and Mrs. Walter Homes enjoyed a family picnic Sunday at their sisters, Mr. and Mrs. Louis Weirick of Salem.

Miss Frances Doudna of Bridgeport is spending a week as a guest of Mr. and Mrs. Harold Holloway.

Woman, 99, Gets Chest X-Ray

Miss Mary Smith, a County Home resident who will be 100 years old Oct. 25, was among the persons receiving chest X-rays when the state X-Ray Mobile visited the county home Thursday morning.

Miss Smith, a former resident of Yellow Creek township who has been in the home since 1937, is shown leaving the mobile trailer as Miss Lillian Schroder, left executive secretary of the Health League, holds a birthday cake for their honored visitor. Assisting Miss Smith down the steps is Mrs. Stella Beadnell, right, a nurse at the home.

Religion At Work

By EUGENE CARR

It Happened South of the Border

An American businessman and his wife returned recently from their first visit to Mexico.

Their report on what they found there was most enthusiastic. Never, they said, had they enjoyed such a wonderful vacation.

They thought Mexico City was the most beautiful city they ever had seen. They admired the fine residential districts, the public buildings and modern stores. They had nothing but praise for the hotel where they stopped; the food, room accommodations and service were excellent.

They came home with a warm feeling for the people they met, and cited several incidents that highlighted the friendliness and courtesy they encountered.

BUT THE ONE thing that remains most firmly rooted in their memories happened on a lonely road far removed from the glamor and excitement customary to tourist travel.

They rented a car one day for a drive through the country so they could see the small villages, the clusters of houses along the wayside, and learn, first hand, something of life as it is lived away from the metropolitan centers.

The hotel prepared lunch for them—large boxes of delicious food, so they would be well supplied for the day.

THEIR DRIVER, a well-educated Mexican, spoke excellent English and served as guide and interpreter for the trip.

Shortly after noon they stopped along the roadside in the shade of a clump of small trees. It was lunchtime, and they were hungry. However, as they were about to open their boxes of food, a boy came alongside the car, herding several goats down the road.

The couple was attracted immediately to the boy. It was obvious he was ill-fed, undernourished and extremely small for his age.

They asked their driver to speak to the boy and find out if he had had his noon meal. The boy shook his head and continued on his way.

The husband jumped out of the car and handed his lunch box to the boy. The boy examined it, smiled his thanks to the American, and again proceeded on his way.

"WHY DOESN'T he eat?" the wife asked the driver. "Surely he's too hungry to wait!"

"He's taking the food home to his brothers and sisters," the driver said. "He's probably the oldest in the family."

With this, the woman handed her lunch box to her husband who, in turn, gave it to the boy. Now the boy was plainly overjoyed. Two boxes of food—enough for all!

He ran a few steps down the road, stopped, turned back to the car, and called out something in his native tongue.

They watched him go, with quickening steps, as he herded the goats toward home.

"What did he say as he left?" the wife asked.

Without turning to address her, the driver replied, quietly, "God passed this way today!"

Search Party Finds Fire

---In Searcher's Cuff

STEUBENVILLE, Ohio (AP) — Jefferson County conservation agent Robert Jones tells this one: Several hundred persons were in the William Newburn barn in Jefferson County on a soil conservation tour Thursday when someone smelled something burning.

A search party was organized quickly. Everywhere the searchers went they could smell fire. After 15 minutes of searching and two trips to the basement to look under bales of hay, the party found the fire.

It was in the cuff of a youth who was aiding the search. A burning cigarette had dropped into the cuff.

PORT ISABEL, Tex. (AP) — Aviation Cadet Duane H. Nielson, 22, of Conneaut, Ohio, has been killed in a landing attempt. His Navy jet crashed Thursday near the auxiliary air station here.

HOMEMADE ROCKET of Fred Ashead and Lynn Bates is shown taking off in a sudden burst of white smoke.

Boys Shoot Rocket Here To 2,200 Feet

After approximately a year's work, Fred Ashead and Lynn Bates launched a homemade rocket to a height of 2,200 feet Tuesday evening.

The firing site was north west of town on the Bill Miskimins farm. The 20 foot steel and wood launching tower was erected in a concrete base at a 86 degree angle.

The rocket was electrically detonated, with the take-off speed calculated at 250 miles per hour. The seven foot, 20-pound missile was built in two sections.

When the instrument section was parachuted back to earth, the altimeter registered a height of 2,200 feet, which coincided with the 2,237 feet that had been recorded by sighting the angle of elevation at the highest point reached by the rocket.

The motor section fell straight down and embedded itself two and a half feet in the ground. Two parachutes were ejected from the instrument section to enable it to float slowly back to earth.

Construction test-firing of the motor was held in February. After several failures, the instrument section was perfected for this week's launching.

An hour before the firing, the two sections were assembled on the tower. The boys worked painstakingly to avoid any sudden jarr which might have set off the rocket.

A group of 50 spectators witnessed the rockets ascent, preceded by a dull roar and a cloud of dense gray smoke.

Both Salem High graduates, Fred is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Dudley Ashead of N. Ellsworth Ave. and Lynn is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Harvey Bates of the Goshen Rd.

It was a beautiful summer day and the willows hung in a pale green fringe above the water, and Bill and I were very young, and very much in love.

But there seemed to be so many obstacles in our path. Bill wanted to be a doctor, and it took such a long time. I was to go away to Teachers' College in the fall. We began to feel depressed.

Then it occurred to us to ask the advice of Mr. Thornton, our new minister. He hadn't been at our church very long and he was young for the responsibilities he had assumed. But as we sat in his office, I knew right away that here was someone who could help us face our problems.

Well, I can't say his advice made us happy. He said that Bill should go on with his education and I with mine, and that God would give us courage.

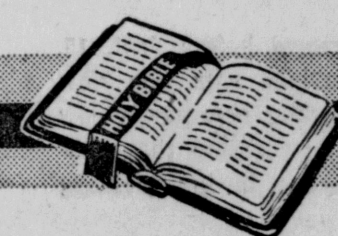

Time proved him right. I told him that, the day he married us. Ten years have passed since then. But on that Sunday afternoon, Mr. Thornton truly put the Church into our lives. We're never going to take it out.

THE CHURCH FOR ALL . . . ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

It Wasn't Planned This Way

So many good and bad faces have been put on U.S. armed intervention in Lebanon and British intervention in Jordan that the true face is in danger of being forgotten.

No one in Washington has claimed that the incident was planned this way, or that it turned out the way the United States had hoped it would turn out.

No one has declared that intervention in Lebanon was carried out as the result of a foreign policy. It has been presented to the U.S. public as a reaction from an unexpected event in Iraq and has appeared in that light to the rest of the world, even to many of the Lebanese.

Least of all has anyone in an official position asserted that it is the first step in a methodical approach to a solution of the problem of keeping the Middle East from being incorporated into the widening sphere of Russian influence. Intervention reflects the absence of a Middle East policy. It is a reaction, not a policy.

Whatever may be the arguments in favor of intervention, Russian influence never was made to look so inviting to the Arab world as it has been made by the presence of U.S. and British troops in Lebanon and Jordan. Russia's propagandists could not have invented a more productive line than has been handed to them ready-made — the line that colonial and dependent states now face armed intervention by the West, with only the power of the Soviet Union to protect native populations from "interference."

The best face that Americans can put on the affair, or the best face that has appeared on it so far, bears a striking resemblance to Teddy Roosevelt's caricature in a Routh Rider outfit.

There Finally Comes a Time

The merging of the Cincinnati Times-Star with the Cincinnati Post has brought to 143 the number of U.S. cities with single ownership of their morning and evening newspapers. E. W. Scripps Co., owner of the Post, had bought controlling interest in Cincinnati's morning paper, The Enquirer, two years ago.

This is part of the trend that has caused many newspaper operations to be consolidated in single operations as well as under single ownership. The problem that produces this solution is always the same.

Continued heavy losses from high overhead that cannot be matched with income causes ownership to seek relief by selling to the competition. In New Orleans, the solution has taken this curious and significant twist:

Times-Picayune Publishing Co., which had been asked by the ownership of the deficit-running New Orleans Item to buy it out and thus add New Orleans to the ever-growing list of U.S. cities without competing newspapers, has offered to resell the Item to anyone willing to meet the same price within 60 days.

If no one comes forward before Sept. 15, The Item will be combined with The New Orleans States, the evening newspaper now published by the same ownership that publishes The Times-Picayune in the morning field.

Newspaper consolidations are the result of inability to match ever-rising overhead with income. Unless income can be forced up, in other words, another consolidation is in the making — or, in the absence of consolidation, another collapse.

It is of interest that the Cincinnati Post and Times-Star will be No. 1,306 on the list of newspapers now being published in fields where losing ownership has bowed out of the picture. The Times-Star, according to its

The worst face that has been put on it is that of a hopeless U.S. infantryman trapped in a war that cannot be won in another place nobody wants, like Korea.

Somewhere between these the true face is likely to be found—and the likeliest place to look for it will be in a re-examination of policy for the Middle East.

Americans do not want to get into a holy war against Mohammedanism. They do not want to fight the United Arab Republic. They are interested only in blocking the continued expansion of Russian influence.

This purpose has not been served well by what they have been doing. President Nasrallah they have been driven into the Russian camp by U.S. insistence that he be either 100 per cent one way or the other, when Nasser obviously prefers to be 50 per cent each way, in a "neutral" posture.

It is impossible to have any confidence in the forthcoming Senate Foreign Relations Committee review of Middle East policy that may take upward of a year to finish. But it is impossible to avoid the belief that Middle East policy now must undergo close review as the result of a fiasco no one foresaw and no one knows how to straighten out.

Fortunately, intervention could have the good effect of stabilizing a situation that was getting lopsided, but armed intervention always can have that effect. The purpose of foreign policy is to get the same effect without the risk of intervention. The inevitable result of intervention in Lebanon will be a re-examination of Middle East policy. Americans do not want to get involved in another Korea.

own statement, had lost more than a million dollars in the last fiscal year. It was the result of a consolidation in 1950.

Dry Your Tears

It is a dull week that does not produce a conversation in which someone says, sadly, "Yes, but look what happened to the coal industry." This is supposed to convey the idea that the coal industry is on the way to extinction, with the fringed surney and the whooping crane.

The opposite is true. National Coal Assn. has distributed its annual fact book about bituminous coal, and its up-to-date information shows a bright picture.

What people are thinking about when they refer to what happened to the coal industry is what happened to its employees. Their number had shrunk to 218,000 in 1957. In 1923, there were 704,798 coal mine employees. But in that year of peak mine employment total production was only 564,564,662 net tons of coal. Last year, less than a third as many miners produced a little less than 500 million tons.

The rest of the story is the way the smaller production was used so much more efficiently than coal once was used that it was the equivalent of vastly more than the highest tonnage ever mined. Today's coal miner is among the highest-paid workers. Today's mining companies are solidly financed and profitable. The prospects for coal, moreover, are bright and promising to be brighter, because it is the cheapest source of electric energy.

Feel sorry for miners, but waste no tears on the coal industry. And better check first to see if the miners are feeling sorry for themselves.

Once Over

By H. I. Phillips

Case of run-of-mill golfer who went to court because his club cut his handicap, giving him 29 instead of 34 strokes, arouses fear that some golf addict may ultimately "whiff" his way to the U.S. Supreme Court, a pretty terrible prospect. These questions would then bother golfers everywhere:

1. What is the right club for getting distance in a minor court?
2. In going to higher court is it permissible to "tee up" petition in a trap?
3. Upon reaching the Supreme Court should the bench give the golfer strokes, or vice versa?

THERE'S NOT MUCH humor in high tribunal and it would brighten things to see a duffer with a high handicap appearing there to illustrate his poor golfing form. Mortimer Topblower's club (Divot Diggers Oaks) threatens to cut his 40 handicap and he may fight it to the Supreme Court of the United States, taking along a special group of attorneys, including a counsel in charge of his waterhole records, an attorney handling his ground-under-repair behavior and a mouthpiece in charge of terrible sandtrap performances.

He looks for a 5 to 4 decision, due to hooks, slices and wrong wrist action. He bases this on reports that the Supreme Court justices play golf and have different ideas about golf handicaps.

Chief Justice Warren might be for him as he, too, is a golfer with high handicap. Justice Douglas doesn't like golf unless played in the Himalaya Mountain passes from donkey back.

Justice Frankfurter holds with Harvard that if your club gives you 34 strokes over other golfers it is your constitutional right to upset big tournaments with it.

Justice Black is believed to hold that poor and underprivileged golfers should get all the breaks and that smug players who shoot in the low 30s should keep their big mouths shut.

Mr. Topblower's hope is that the majority verdict would say "Life, liberty and the pursuit of low golf scores are inalienable rights. If you can hornswoggle a few trophies through a duly allotted handicap it's all right with us."

The dissenting opinion would, of course, say, "High handicaps are employed nefariously by incompetent players to beat their betters."

"Thousands of honest men are losing tournament loot to duffers who get a big handicap advantage in their youth and operate under it the rest of their lives. Case dismissed."

"PETE RADEM/CHER is no fighter," writes D. K. H. "He's a floor and canvas inspector."

A fire lieutenant, eligible in a few months for retirement and pension after 20 years service, is charged with looting the fire house desks. If such an act isn't sliding down an extension ladder backwards, what is?

Iraq has barred horse racing and betting. Don't tell us it believes all the Middle East unrest is due to three horse players and Arabian League daily doubles.

"It's Your Turn To Carry It"

Congress Had Busy Year

By JAMES MARLOW

WASHINGTON (AP)—Washington is a little like a balloon with the air out of it — including some hot air — when Congress quits. And it's thinking of doing that by the middle of August.

After that the news coming out of Washington will be pretty much limited to doings of the Eisenhower administration — including its problems in foreign affairs.

Judging by the way things are going overseas, and are likely to go for months to come, there should be quite a lot of Washington news through the rest of the year.

Congress also will continue to make news indirectly anyway since all the House seats and more than a third of the Senate seats are up for grabs in the November elections.

Most of the members going home in August will be fighting for re-election.

They'll be speaking often about the record of a Congress that has faced and handled major problems of defense and recession. And since Congress has been under Democratic control, the Democrats will try to make the most of it with the voters. There seems no chance of their losing control in the elections.

In a way these past months have put Congress under pressures never inflicted before in peacetime, at least with such a peculiar kind of urgency.

Between the time Congress quit last summer and its return in January, the Soviets shot up two Sputniks. So Congress returned in a state of shock, confronted with the realization the Soviets were ahead in missiles.

The result: Congress passed a bill creating an outer space agency. And under the pressure of events in the Middle East, Congress gave President Eisenhower pretty much the kind of defense reorganization bill he wanted.

Eisenhower also is expected to get pretty much the kind of reciprocal trade bill he wanted. He wanted it extended five years. The House agreed, the Senate said three years. They'll probably agree on four, the longest extension in the trade act's 24-year history. World events were an influence here too.

And, while it was at it, Congress threw in statehood for Alaska, boosted postal rates, increased the public debt limit, put through raises for federal employees and the military, and extended emergency jobless pay.

Eisenhower is still battling to get as much money as he can for foreign aid. He had asked $3,942,000,000. Congress put a ceiling of $3,675,000,000 on it.

Then the House, when it came time to vote the actual money, cut almost 600 million dollars from that amount, or close to 900 million less than Eisenhower asked.

He wants 500 millions of that restored. Now it's up to the Senate to have it's say. Since it will probably come up with a figure different from the House, the Senate and House will finally have to work out a compromise.

Again here world events, especially in the Middle East, gave the President an extra and urgent talking point to pressure Congress into listening to him.

One thing seems sure: Congress seems certain not to pass a general labor bill. The Senate did, but the House is likely to ignore it.

Decision In Arkansas

By DAVID LAWRENCE

Voters Decide To Back Constitution

Maybe it's a demonstration of "Arkansas nationalism" we are witnessing — though perhaps "statism" is a more fitting word

—but for some reason not clearly understood in the North the people of Arkansas, by the highest landslide in their voting history, have just assured a third term for Gov. Orval Faubus.

Isn't this the man, it will be asked, who "defied the supreme law of the land"? Don't the people of Arkansas know what the law of the land is, or have they come to the conclusion that maybe the law of the land is what the Constitution says it is and not what nine justices say it is?

The Bill of Rights in the Constitution does say that "the powers not delegated to the United States by the Constitution, nor prohibited by it to the states, are reserved to the states respectively, or to the people."

The people of Arkansas weighed all the arguments and decided to back the Constitution as it is written. They had listened for nearly a year to radio and television speeches of abuse and had read many articles in the press telling them they are lawless folks who don't obey the order of the federal courts.

THE ARKANSAS voters had protested in vain that critics in other states were oversimplifying the issue by saying that it was merely "that man Faubus" and a few zealots who were responsible for the crisis in the schools of Arkansas and that, if the present governor were not in office things would be different.

Now the people of Arkansas, in a free and fair election, have given their answer. They have voted by an overwhelming majority—about 70 per cent of all ballots cast—to retain Gov. Faubus. It's a break in tradition to give a third term to a governor in Arkansas. I was, therefore, an electorate deeply stirred which threw precedent aside in order to say to the rest of the states of the Union that Arkansas craves the privilege of deciding for itself how it shall educate its children.

Up to 1954, education was considered to be solely a state problem, with no right to the federal government to assign pupils to public schools, much less to send federal troops to police the corridors of school buildings. But, while the Supreme Court four years ago vetoed segregation, it has not yet prescribed a formula for integration.

OTHER STATES besides Arkansas are struggling with the same problem of how to retain control of their schools and yet keep them from being interfered with by the Supreme Court's edicts.

There wouldn't have been any such rumpus in Arkansas or in any other southern state if the Congress, as specifically provided in the 14th Amendment, had passed a law compelling desegregation.

But for the Supreme Court suddenly to turn down its own 58-year-old order for "separate but equal" facilities in the schools by terming it now a violation of the 14th Amendment—especially since the court itself could not find the slightest bit of history to show that the framers of that amendment intended to take over control of educational systems of the states—is to arouse the people to demand that the law of the land, namely, the Constitution itself, be followed.

The 14th Amendment stipulates that "Congress shall have power to enforce, by appropriate legislation, the provisions of this article." This never has been done. The Supreme Court, moreover, isn't supposed to exercise any legislative power.

It is significant that the two candidates opposing Gov. Faubus in the Democratic primary in Arkansas expressed themselves in favor of segregation in the schools, although they differed on how the formula is to be applied.

THERE IS NO doubt that the renomination of Gov. Faubus in the Democratic primary — which is equivalent to election because there is no effective Republican party in the state — will be regarded in other southern states as encouragement and moral support.

Every southern state would vote on the segregation issue exactly as has Arkansas. The same American liberal who are so quick to recognize as legitimate the aspirations of the Arabs or the Algerians or other nationalities to autonomous rights seem to forget that even in the United States there are aspirations of self-government by units known as "the several states."

When the Constitution was written, all the people were told that the states were never to be deprived of their sovereignty except under the means prescribed in the Constitution itself for amending that document.

States' rights have since suffered as the federal government has gradually centralized more and more economic power in Washington. But where questions of sentiment and customs are concerned, the doctrine of states' rights is as live and as virile today as it was when Thomas Jefferson first taught it.

It is time for a more constructive approach to the problem of segregation and integration. It's an issue that can be resolved only by patience, reason and tolerance of lengthy debate—and certainly not by bayonets.

Cautious Outlook

By SAM DAWSON

NEW YORK — Leaders of two of the hardest hit industries in the recession are throwing cold water today on the extreme optimism of those who see a new boom under way.

These steel and auto spokesmen are being as heard headed about this as most businessmen were about not being tamped into panic by the recession.

Roger M. Blough, chairman of U.S. Steel, says "improvement in the latter part of this year is not going to be as rapid as some people seem to think."

Harlow H. Curtice, president of General Motors, and its chairman, Albert Bradley, say cautiously "a modest upward trend has begun."

Both companies are still silent on future pricing policies. Both have labor cost problems—steel's wage rates have gone up this month and the motor industry is in the process of negotiating a new labor contract with a wage boost probable.

Each is in a highly competitive business with that factor weighing heavily in price decisions.

But each also depends greatly on how the general economy goes in the months ahead. And that uncertainty doubtless accounts for some of Blough's hesitation to announce quickly a price rise as other steel companies are starting to do.

The GM and Big Steel words of caution coincide with their earnings reports for the first half of the year — statements that measure just how hard the recession hit them — although in each case the two giants in their respective industries fared better than some of their smaller competitors.

Both expect to do better in the remainder of the year but stress that just how much better depends upon how much consumer and business confidence revives.

In the first six months U.S. Steel report a net profit of $2.29 a share, compared with $4.07 a share in the like 1957 period. GM's first half net income was $1.17 a share, compared with $1.71 in the previous year.

The pickup in the steel business in the last two months is shown in the earnings gain in the second quarter over the first — $1.25 a share in the June quarter against $1.04 in the March period.

GM had no such luck. Its second quarter earnings were 52 cents a share and its first quarter profit 65 cents.

When the pricing problems are straightened out, the earnings picture should improve in the latter part of this year.

First, the comparison will be with the last half of 1957 when profits were starting to slide.

Second, business should be better, especially if the new car models click with the public—Detroit will make more cars, and profits, and order more steel.

So They Say

We Alaskans, jubilant and prayerful, assume our proud and rightful role in the American family. We pause in the threshold of great responsibility and great opportunity. We regard ourselves as custodians of a great trust. — E. L. Bartlett, Alaska's delegate to Congress.

I didn't know when I entered the contest that I would be given the title "Miss Corrugated Fittings of 1958." — Barbara Hayward, 22, of Burwell, England, named queen of the cardboard box plant where she works.

It is past time for the West, Communist and anti-Communist alike, to draw back from the edge of complete moral bankruptcy... We (Asians) utterly deny you the right to cause cancer in our children. — President Sukarno of Indonesia, calling for end to nuclear weapons testing.

Colavito's HRs Pace Tribe To Double Win Over Bosox

McLish, Woody Hurl 4-Hitters

Minoso Hits 14th As Club Wins 6th in Row

CLEVELAND (AP) — Rocky Colavito cracked a pair of two-run homers Friday night to provide the zip in the Cleveland Indians' doubleheader triumph over the Boston Red Sox, 7-1 and 3-1.

Cleveland pulled within half a game of second place Boston with its double win. The Indians, Chicago and Baltimore are clustered in a virtual tie for third place.

Rocky wasn't the only hero, however, as Cleveland stretched its longest winning streak of the season to six games. Cal McLish and Hal Woodeshick stopped the big Boston bats with a pair of four-hitters.

In the nightcap the Tribe bats were silent, too, until Rocky broke up a 1-1 tie with his 23rd home run homers Friday night to provide the zip in the Cleveland Indians' doubleheader triumph over the Boston Red Sox, 7-1 and 3-1.

Roberts Wins 200th

Braves Beat Giants 4-2 To Take 2-Game Lead; Bucs Vault To 3rd

By The Associated Press

Roberts, with 200 victories already in the bag, may become the first truly modern National League pitcher to win 300 lifetime games.

Although Early Wynn of the Chicago White Sox, with 244 victories, and Milwaukee's Warren Spahn, with 237, are far ahead of him, the still brilliant Philadelphia right-hander appears to have the best chance to join the elite dozen who have reached the charmed circle.

Roberts has the advantage of youth. He is only 31 to Wynn's 38 and Spahn's 37. Barring injury to his arm, Robbie should have his 300 when he reaches the age category of the only two active pitchers with more victories than he has.

Roberts thinks he has a good chance to do it. "If I can keep pitching the way I have," he said after his three-hit 3-1 triumph over the Chicago Cubs Friday night, "I might make it. My arm really feels fine now. I'm throwing with that easy motion."

Roberts lost his bid for a shut out when Dale Long connected for a home run. The Phils snapped a 1-1 tie in the sixth on singles by Harry Anderson and Ed Bouchee and Chico Fernandez's triple off loser Dave Hillman.

The Braves increased their National League lead to two games over San Francisco, defeating the Giants 4-2. Pittsburgh handed St. Louis its fourth straight defeat with a 2-0 shutout. Los Angeles rallied for five runs in the ninth to crush Cincinnati 6-2.

The New York Yankees soared to their biggest lead of the season — 16½ games — shutting out Chicago 7-0 while Cleveland was sweeping a doubleheader from Boston 7-1 and 3-1. Detroit downed Baltimore 3-1 and Washington drubbed Kansas City 10-4.

Relief pitcher Don McMahon threw a called third strike past Willie Mays with the tying runs on second and third to save Lew Burdette's 10th straight over the Giants.

Mike McCormick lost his third in 11 decisions for the Giants. Three games remain in the series, which closes Sunday with a doubleheader.

Five Dodgers singles, off four Redleg pitchers, produced five runs that enabled Los Angeles to overcome a 2-1 deficit in the ninth. Brooks Lawrence, who relieved starter Harvey Haddix in the eighth, was the loser. Johnny Klippstein, former Cincinnati, was the winner.

Ronnie Kline pitched the Pittsburgh shutout against St. Louis, a four-hitter that gave him his fourth straight victory and 11th of the season. Rookie Bob Mabe was the loser.

Three more teams will be eliminated tonight reducing the field to eight in the Columbus County softball tournament being held at Kelly Field.

Three clubs already have been dropped from the double elimination tournament.

Four tilts are scheduled tonight and two Sunday evening in tourney play while three Class A league games are set for Sunday afternoon.

Yama Bahama Cops Decision Over Miceli

SYRACUSE, N.Y. (AP) — "We wuz robbed" is heard in boxing as much as punches are seen thrown. But coming from a fighter who won only three rounds, it bears study.

Joe Miceli, veteran ringman from New York City, thought he got a bad deal here Friday night when he lost a 10-round unanimous decision to Yama Bahama of the British West Indies.

Miceli based his argument on that fact that Bahama went into a bear-hugging routine in the first round after two knockdowns.

"He should have been disqualified in the first round!" Miceli shouted in his noisy dressing room. "The referee was a big guy, but he couldn't tear that guy off me," the 29-year-old left-handed hooker said.

Miceli sent Bahama to a foggy island with a crushing left uppercut in the first punch of the fight. Bahama grabbed and tackled his mar around the ring. Again, Miceli caught the glass-eyed Bahama in the first and the routine took an encore — this time with referee Joe Palmer an added starter.

The best Miceli could do after that was crash to the floor in the eighth round and flail away with his favorite looping left hand.

It was unranked Miceli's 30th defeat against 62 wins and four draws. Bahama, 25, ninth in the middleweight ratings, notched his 52nd of 60. Both fighters weighed 153.

Browns To Scrimmage In Today's Workouts

HIRAM, Ohio (AP) — Today is scrimmage day at the Cleveland Browns' training camp.

On the offensive squad the work out gives Coach Paul Brown a chance to look at such prospects as Farrell Fuston, an end from The College of the Pacific, and veterans like Chuck Noll, back at offensive guard after three seasons of linebacking.

On defense, two rookies will be among those watched, Willie Davis, from Grambling (La.) College, at right end, and defensive tackle Buzz Guy of Duke.

NL Managers Against Proposed Rule Change

CHICAGO (AP) — "All baseball needs is more good ball players," by Lew Fonseca, former major league player and manager who is now motion picture director for the American and National leagues.

The change would permit a player removed from a game for other than a rules infraction to re-enter the contest provided one inning had elapsed between his departure and return.

Ford Frick, commissioner of baseball, was not available for comment, but National League President Warren Giles said "It has no appeal to me."

Frank Lane, outspoken general manager of the Cleveland Indians, said "It's a horrible idea. It would make the games much longer than they are now. Baseball is so popular because the game is relatively simple. Fonseca's proposal would complicate the game."

Birdie Tebbets, manager of Cincinnati's Redlegs, said "It doesn't sound good. We (managers) have too much leeway and strategy as it is."

Manager Fred Haney of Milwaukee's world champion Braves said "As a first reaction I don't like it. It's like trying to make the game like professional football with unlimited substitution. It would mean looking for an altogether different type of utility player."

Al Lopez, White Sox manager, said "Such a change would revolutionize the game. I'm afraid I can't make any comment other than that until I give the matter more study."

John McHale, Detroit general manager, called it "a very interesting proposal and certainly merits study. Any changes which might make the game more interesting to the fans should be thoroughly studied."

In making his suggestion, Fonseca said "As a career baseball man, I would be the last to make a suggestion that might make a farce of the sport. Baseball needs a lift. Other sports continually make changes, but professional baseball has stood virtually still."

Beauty's Enemy

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP) — Girls, do you know what is the worst enemy of feminine beauty?

Here's what Constance Bennett, one of filmdom's all-time glamour dolls, has to say:

"It is a resentful personality. Any woman who habitually harbors meanness and envy will find in time they will show in her face and make her unattractive."

Miss Bennett, one of the sprightliest daughters of her day, ran away from school to go to Hollywood, where she starred in 47 films and a number of marriages.

She was also perhaps the first movie star to earn a $35,000 weekly salary and one of the first lady film producers. Following the tradition of her gifted father, Richard Bennett, early matinee idol, she turned later to the stage.

Currently she is starring on the road in the hit comedy, "Auntie Mame," a vaudeville role that fits her like a girdle.

Connie, who still tilts her famed long cigarette holder at the same rakish angle, gets an eternal kick out of living and has some strong opinions on why people get old.

"Youth consists merely in being enthusiastic with life—in not being bored with life," she said.

"I think people who do nothing but think about how they look are bored. You can get very old worrying about how to stay young."

The heroine of the famed Topper series thinks present-day movies are better than those of yesteryear, but that actresses are less glamorous.

"Films now are more realistic and true to life," she said. "They don't grind them out like sausage as they used to."

"But those old tinsel films did make actresses seem glamorous, remote and unattainable."

"There aren't any Nita Naldis, Theda Baras and Pola Negris around any more. That style of glamor isn't exciting anymore."

"Styles change in glamor, just as in everything else."

"What is glamorous today? I think it is a combination of fresh natural beauty and sophistication rather than the exotic. Ingrid

Bergman and Grace Kelly come first to mind.

"But anything really obvious isn't glamorous — and that includes, in my opinion, actresses who look so sexy they seem to be bursting."

Whom did she have in mind? Oh, nobody in particular.

Thousands of times women have asked her for beauty secrets, but she said the only one she knew that made real sense is this:

"Be beautifully natural — and naturally beautiful."

TO GET ADDITIONAL FUNDS

WASHINGTON (AP) — Ohio will receive an estimated $7,973,000 in additional funds for public assistance, authorized in Social Security legislation passed Thursday by the House.

Injunction Sought To Ban E. Palestine Fair

EAST PALESTINE — The Herriott Trucking Co. filed a petition in Common Pleas Court Friday, seeking an injunction to prevent the American Legion Street Fair from being held on N. Market St. and state Route 170.

The court did not set a definite hearing date on the petition when it was filed which may require the petitioners to plea for a temporary injunction due to the fact that the 26th annual street fair is scheduled for Aug. 14, 15 and 16.

The American Legion officers asked for and received their permit from the city in June.

There has been much discussion among local citizens and businessmen the past few years concerning the street fair being held on N. Market St. Many have indicated they thought the fair should be located at the city park.

Pilot

g. he was dizzy, a little sick and nearly out of gasoline.

"I got awfully lonely at times. It's a lonesome thing to fly that far in a little, tiny machine with nothing to keep you company."

"I thought about the wife, and the kids, and kept looking at that big yellow moon shining off that cold Pacific."

"I didn't have a portable radio. I didn't have a parachute. I left it in Manila because it weighed 25 pounds," he said.

Boling, however, did carry a Bible. Did he pray? He said "Well, I'd just rather not . . ." And his voice trailed off.

The most severe trouble, he said, was encountered after he left the Cold Bay, Alaska, area.

Ice began forming on the plane, and, as he started to descend, the craft began to lose fuel. Finally, he dropped to 1,500 feet.

"I really thought I was going to have to put it in the water, but then I got out of that when it began to rain."

I had been 17 years since Boling had sat at the controls of a light plane, but the United Air Lines pilot touched down here smoothly.

Because his gas was so low, Boling waved off instructions to circle the field once.

Commissioners

our welfare director visited our neighboring counties to study their procedures in handling and distribution. We were interested in costs of distribution and handling, as they related to benefits received.

"In June 1958 one of the commissioners visited the office of Commodities Distribution in Columbus to see if additional commodities were available.

"At this time 16 of the 88 counties in Ohio were distributing surplus foods and the following commodities were available in quantities specified by the State—cheese, dried milk and rice. The values of the commodities available amounted to approximately $1.40 per person per month.

"Since June the Commissioners have lost no opportunity in discussing this problem with the State and other counties and our welfare director has attended meetings, one of them as late as this week.

"Here are some of the figures of cost of administration of the program which our Commissioners must consider:

"1. About $1,000 per month for distribution, transportation, and storage.

"2. About $5,000 for equipment for transportation and storage.

"These costs must come from the poor relief fund which is already overburdened.

"In spite of the fact that the costs of administering this program may exceed benefits, the commissioners have negotiated for and have a warehouse available.

"We have been advised that flour and other commodities may be available later this year and you can rest assured that we will have the welfare of our citizens at heart and will set up the program as soon as it is feasible and practical.

"We trust that the above facts will convince you that we have been in constant touch with this program, and are trying to take an intelligent approach to the problem."

Swedish Youth Dies In Boston Hospital

BOSTON AP—Nils-Olov Wisell, 50 pounds of courage, died Friday night at Peter Ben Brigham Hospital. He had been awaiting a kidney transplant operation.

The 11-year-old freckled-faced youngster from Motala, Sweden, was born with one kidney, which he lost last April when he toppled from a merry-go-round near his home.

A hospital bulletin said Nils' death was due to the inability of his system to accept bone marrow transfusions from his mother. She was to have donated one of her kidneys.

The boy died with his parents at his bedside and his bed surrounded by gifts which had poured in from all over the nation since his admission on July 1.

Nils' operation would have been unprecedented, since kidney transplants have been successful only between identical twins.

Nils' parents, Oscar, a butcher, and his wife, Margaret, kept vigil at the hospital through most of their son's confinement. Nils was their only child.

Funeral services will be held Monday at the Salvation Army Corps auditorium in Boston. Burial for the tousled, tawny-haired lad who wanted to be a cowboy will be in Sweden.

Band Week Proclaimed; Concert Set Monday

Nert week will be "American Legion Quaker City Band Week," Mayor Harold D. Smith proclaimed today.

The proclamation was made by Mayor Smith at a time when the band is making an attempt to raise $5,000 which they will need to participate in the national championship competition in Chicago Aug. 24-29.

The band will give a public concert Monday at 8 p.m. at the basketball court at Centennial Park. They will play a selection of marches.

Next Wednesday evening, a canvas of the city of Salem will be made in a direct attempt to secure $5,000 the band needs.

MacDonald, Loop To Seek Judgeship Posts

Two more candidates have filed petitions with the county election board seeking county judge posts at the Nov. 4 general election.

The new entrants are James L. MacDonald of RD Lisbon, former county prosecutor, and Wade A. Loop of Salem. Mr. Loop was a Perry Township justice of the peace for 13 years before the office was abolished. He was defeated for election as a judge a year ago.

It brings to four the number already filed. Luther Donbar of Columbiana, incumbent, and Earl Spalding of East Palestine, runner-up a year ago, filed earlier.

Libon Boy Injured When Struck by Car

LISBON—Jerry Sanders, 8, son of Mr. and Mrs. Jerry Sanders of Thomas Road, is in Salem City Hospital with a concussion and scalp lacerations after being struck by a car driven by Frank Apple of Sunset Drive Friday at 9:15 p.m. near his home.

He had just been given a ride home from a hot stove baseball game by State Highway Patrolman Ralph Knight. The mishap occurred when the youth ran into the path of Apple's slow moving car.

MISHAPS REPORTED
Police reported that at 3:23 p.m. yesterday that cars driven by Dorothy G. Godward, 33, of 221 N. Madison Ave., and Mary Frank, 37, of RD 2, Lisbon, collided on E. State St. near Vine.

At 9:57 p.m. yesterday, a truck owned by Lloyd Harris, of Alvarado, Texas, coasted from its parking place in a driveway at 557 W. State St., and struck a car driven by Norman H. Miller, 34, of MC 1, Salem.

Storm Damaged Four Bridges In County

Columbiana County Highway Superintendent John "Dick" Neill says that four bridges have been damaged and washed out by heavy rains of the last couple of days. Another is damaged but is being used for traffic.

A bridge on the Depot Road, south of Salem is out as is another one a mile-and-a-half south of Leetonia on a township road. Two were damaged and a road closed in Fairfield township, one near Kelly's skating rink and one northeast of Midway Grange hall of Route 164.

The road from Depot road over to Winona is open to traffic after the bridge was damaged and the county highway department has it blocked up and it will carry normal traffic.

The county highway department workers are washing out the mud this morning in the county garage at Lisbon after three feet of water backed up in the garage.

Moscow

dent Eisenhower and British Prime Minister Macmillan. But Khrushchev later came out strongly for his original proposal of July 19 for a five-power conference of the type which De Gaulle favors. Thus Khrushchev is in position to move either way.

President Eisenhower's latest move in negotiations for a summit meeting to discuss the tense Middle Eastern situation came Friday in another note to Khrushchev. In it, Eisenhower said for the first time that if a special session of the U.N. Security Council is arranged he will attend "and I hope that you would do likewise."

Eisenhower left open the question of a site, saying that the meeting might be held in some place other than New York City, which is U.N. headquarters. There was much talk that the decision might eventually go to Geneva or possibly another West European city.

In his new reply to Khrushchev, Eisenhower again rejected the Soviet charge that U.S.-British troop landings in Lebanon and Jordan threatened world peace.

"The problem of the Middle East is not one of a threat of aggression by the United States," Eisenhower wrote, "but rather the threat, by others, of further indirect aggression against independent states. This problem is clearly the responsibility of the United Nations Security Council."

and dried, and that it will be about a month before the plant is back in operation.

The Leetonia city council had earlier this year passed legislation to make $100,000 in improvements to the 30-year-old plant, and expand its treatment capacity to cover a population of 5,000 persons. The improvements, the mayor said, will undoubtedly be delayed.

Emergency Declared
By declaring the community in a state of emergency Thursday afternoon, the mayor expressed the hope that Leetonia might receive outside monetary aid to help repair the flood damage. Leetonia, itself, is low on funds," Mayor Kennedy said.

City council will probably decide to seek federal aid at its meeting Wednesday night he said. However, the special meeting he has called tonight is to prepare several levies which must be submitted to the county board of elections for the fall elections.

Flood waters began to recede around 4 a.m. Friday morning. Sandbags were removed from the Berg Pretzel Co. Friday afternoon.

About eight to 10 families were forced to flee their homes during the peak of the flooding. Sewage backed up in several hundred basements of Leetonia homes, Mayor Kennedy said, and remain to be pumped out.

The mayor expressed appreciation for the outside help the community received and offers of help when Leetonia's plight became known late Thursday.

He cited the Civil Defense unit, the highway patrol, county sheriff's department and Washingtonville volunteer firemen, as aiding the community.

The mayor said Leetonia also received offers of assistance of the mayors of Columbiana and Salem, and from the Red Cross.

Storm Damaged Four Bridges In County

Columbiana County Highway Superintendent John "Dick" Neill says that four bridges have been damaged and washed out by heavy rains of the last couple of days. Another is damaged but is being used for traffic.

A bridge on the Depot Road, south of Salem is out as is another one a mile-and-a-half south of Leetonia on a township road. Two were damaged and a road closed in Fairfield township, one near Kelly's skating rink and one northeast of Midway Grange hall of Route 164.

The road from Depot road over to Winona is open to traffic after the bridge was damaged and the county highway department has it blocked up and it will carry normal traffic.

The county highway department workers are washing out the mud this morning in the county garage at Lisbon after three feet of water backed up in the garage.

Shehab Meets Rebel Leader In Beirut

BEIRUT, Lebanon (AP)—President-elect Fuad Shehab met today with rebel leader Saeb Salam behind a heavy security cordon in a Beirut residential area.

Salam, the commander of rebels in the Beirut area and a spokesman for insurgents all over Lebanon, came from behind the barricades in the Basta Moslem quarter for the first time since the rebellion began May 10.

Witnesses said a crowd cheered Salam as he entered the home of relatives for the meeting. Shehab arrived a few minutes later.

Salam demanded that Shehab be elected Thursday to become president Sept. 24 that pro-Western President Camille Chamoun step down immediately to make way for Shehab, the nonpolitical commander of the Lebanese army.

Shehab has not used his army against the rebels in more than limited holding actions and reportedly has had numerous contacts with rebel leaders during the 85-day revolution.

The meeting came as ministers still loyal to Chamoun tried to hold together Premier Sami Solh's cabinet after the finance minister quit.

With more U.S. troops on the way to reinforce the almost 12,000 already in Lebanon, this nation which has been grappling with crisis since May 10 faced another one within the pro-Western government that invited the Americans.

Solh's cabinet was reported split on the election Thursday of Gen. Fuad Shehab to succeed Chamoun Sept. 24 and some Parliament deputies demanded that Solh resign then. But Chamoun said he would serve out his term and his friends tried to get Solh to stick by the outgoing President.

The friends reportedly got Solh at least to delay any resignation. If he quits, Chamoun would be hard pressed to find another Premier for his short remaining time and pressure would increase for him to quit at once.

Finance Minister Pierre Edde resigned because he felt Shehab should be given some political authority immediately instead of waiting seven weeks, reliable informants said. Solh's cabinet refused to do this not only because of Chamoun's insistence on staying in office but also apparently because of the bitter hostility between Solh and Shehab.

Besides, it was doubtful whether the 56-year-old army commander would accept any political authority before taking office. Shehab has indicated he will adhere strictly to his policy of staying out of politics until Sept. 24.

Milton Eisenhower Returns From Tour

WASHINGTON (AP) — Dr. Milton S. Eisenhower, back after a 20-day tour of Central America, says the United States and Latin America must move urgently to reexamine their policies toward each other.

Returning Friday night from a fact-finding visit for his brother, the President, Dr. Eisenhower said the vast majority of the leaders and people of Latin America are friends of the United States.

But in a preliminary report made public by the White House a short time after his return, Dr. Eisenhower listed these three major suggestions for U.S. policy:

1.—The imperative need for bankable loans—not grants—in every country visited.

2.—Response to the appeal of Latin American nations for more stable relationships between raw commodity prices and the prices of manufactured products.

3.—The urgent and immediate need for a clear, accurate understanding of U.S. policies and capabilities.
